

BIOGRAPHY

Brent Bonacorso has been passionately directing for over ten years. He started his career in graphic design and art direction, previously working as a Creative Director at agencies such as DDB, Pyro and The Richards Group. He eventually transitioned to directing music video and commercials work, quickly earning recognition for his unique visual style and extensive use of innovative post techniques in his productions. Brent creates beautifully composed live action and animation work that embodies his unique craftsmanship.

Clients included Ford, Nike, Toyota, Hyundai, Unilever, Converse, Hummer, Infiniti, Seattle Art Museum, Sony Playstation, Guinness and Dolby. His first short film 'Now and Nowhere', won awards at both the Malibu Film Festival as well as the Beverly Hills Film Festival. His latest short 'West Of The Moon' won best international short film at the London Rushes Short Film Festival as well as best short film at the 2010 Carmel Film Festival, which was presented by the legendary Clint Eastwood.
